

The FX42 contains two standard seats and one Explorer seat; the rectangular seat goes toward the bow and slides under the fabric with the zipper for containment. There are also two laces provided to attach to the seat tabs. If you do not wish to have a passenger, you deflate the seat and close the zipper.

The other two seats are the standard seat which you lace into the tabs and the Explorer seat which is yellow and black sits on top of the standard seat which has a piece of webbing that inserts through the tri-glide lock system attached on the Explorer seat.

The FX42 contains two standard seats and one Explorer seat; the rectangular seat goes toward the bow and slides under the fabric with the zipper for containment. There are also two laces provided to attach to the seat tabs. If you do not wish to have a passenger, you deflate the seat and close the zipper.

The other two seats are the standard seat which you lace into the tabs and the Explorer seat which is yellow and black sits on top of the standard seat which has a piece of webbing that inserts through the tri-glide lock system attached on the Explorer seat.